YES ON ULA REACHES 200+ ENDORSEES

Coalition's unprecedented reach signals that Angelenos want to protect seniors from eviction and create more affordable housing

LOS ANGELES, CA — The United to House LA coalition supporting Measure ULA on the City of Los Angeles ballot announced today that it had reached its 202nd endorsing organization.

“Whatever your race or country of origin, whatever part of town you live in, whatever your faith, to live in Los Angeles right now is to recognize that we have a crisis on our hands and that with the right policy, the resources to address it are at hand,” said Takao Suzuki, Director of Community Development at Little Tokyo Service Center. “From the union members who build affordable housing to the service providers who spend every waking hour trying to find housing for seniors experiencing homelessness, this coalition represents unprecedented agreement on the way through a crisis that affects people all over Los Angeles. That means direct cash assistance to low-income seniors, affordable housing construction funds, and legal assistance to help tenants stay in their homes, paid for by a transfer tax on a tiny fraction of eye-popping real estate sales.”

Measure ULA will appear on the City of Los Angeles November 8th general election ballot. Written by housing experts and homeless service providers, it is backed by a coalition comprising not-for-profit neighborhood organizations, homeless service providers, affordable housing builders, labor unions, and community members. The ballot measure is expected to raise an estimated $900 million per year that can be deployed immediately to reduce homelessness, make housing more affordable, and provide financial aid to low-income seniors, veterans, and people with disabilities.

Measure ULA would:

- Invest in innovative solutions that will create housing faster and at a lower cost than what has been tried before
- Provide income assistance to low-income seniors and people with disabilities who are at risk of homelessness, and provide legal aid and outreach services to renters at risk of losing their homes — assisting 475,000 Angelenos each year
- Immediately buy existing and build new affordable housing for 69,000 people (in the first ten years) experiencing homelessness or at risk of homelessness
- Leverage real estate transactions of $5 million or more so that only millionaires and billionaires pay

It also includes the most robust citizens oversight and transparency in LA City history; the fund would be overseen by a Citizens Committee with specific expertise and lived experience on housing and homelessness & supported by paid staff led by an Inspector General.

About the United to House LA Coalition

Not-for-profit neighborhood organizations, labor unions, and community members who live in Los Angeles have come together, with the assistance of homeless service providers — not politicians — to support a ballot initiative that will ask millionaires and billionaires to pay their fair share to dramatically reduce homelessness and help those at risk of homelessness with tenant protections, assistance for people facing evictions, emergency income assistance to seniors, and housing for veterans and families in need.
